FILLING IN WILL START SOON

Construction of an embankment which when finished will be 7000 feet in length was started yesterday by the Daniels Construction company, at the Berkeley Waterfront lands on ehe Richmond waterfront.

With the completion of the embankment, which will be rock filled, filling in of nearly 300 acres of valuable industrial lands will be started by a suction dredger. The entire work will cost more than $1,000,000.

This improvement will provide a new industrial area with a water frontage about a mile in a half in length on a ship channel that will have thirty feet of water.

It is understood the plan of the company provides for lining the entire waterfront with a series of wharves.

With this fact known, added impetus was given to reports current that Great Northern-Western Pacific railroads will locate a huge terminal here at a cost of several millions of dollars.

The land owned by the company will make a valuable site for just such an industry. With the ship's channel running to the property, huge steamers may dock and load or unload its cargo over a wharf system more than a mile in length.

The Berkeley company's property starts in the east at the Ford property and runs west to the California Cap company's property on the waterfront.

Tons of rocks are being brought here each day from the Daniels' Contracting company's quarry at McNear's point to be used for the construction of the embankment.

Throughout all of this activity, the officers of the Berkeley company have maintained their usual silence. They have refused to divulge to the public any information regarding the property.

However, it is generally known that the Santa Fe, an ally of the Hill interests is behind the Berkeley Waterfront company.

This fact makes it plain that a railroad investment of a huge nature is planned.

The Daniels Contracting company of San Francisco is doing the work here. They were awarded the contract by the Berkeley company some time ago.

RICKS TELLS WHY INMAN SHOULD BE SENT TO CONGRESS

Cappy Ricks, prominent realtor of Martinez, and one of the keen observers as to the needs of Contra Costa, came out strong yesterday for Inman for congressman. In Ricks' characteristic style he gives sound and very vital reasons, why the voters of this county should give the state senator from Sacramento overwhelming support at the polls on November 4th.

Here is the statement of Ricks as given out yesterday:

"IS CONTRA COSTA COUNTY FOOLISH ENOUGH TO JEOPARDIZE OUR BAY BARRIER LEGISLATION BY IGNORING INMAN?

"Inman can control the Bay Barrier Legislation in the January, 1931 Senate. He is a powerful leader there and can, with good grace, take either side of the barrier question, he desires to.

"He is a hold-over State Senator from another county and will owe nothing to us if we do not support him in the congressional write-in.

"Let us be grateful and appreciative of his past efforts in our behalf and encourage him to work for our Bay Barrier legislation. His term wont start in Congress until Dec. 1931.

"If our votes defeat him for Congress can we expect him to work for our pet legislation—the Barrier? We have changed our method of electing senators and Assemblymen and one senator is worth much more in the next legislature than formerly. Especially as there will be many new members and Inman has been there for 17 years, building up knowledge on how to do things. HE IS AN EXPERIENCED LAWMAKER AND LEGISLATOR. WE DO NOT WANT HIS VOICE AND INFLUENCE USED AGAINST US NEXT SESSION. WE WANT HIM WITH US 100 PER CENT.

"If he is not elected to Congress by this write-in he will not fear us in the 1934 election as at that time he will be outside this congressional district. Reapportionment comes in 1931.

"Neither Buck nor Curry can help us in the next legislature. Maybe none of the three candidates will be in our congressional district next election so either of them can do as they please with Contra Costa county. Whoever is elected will only be our congressman for a short time. WITH THAT LINEUP CERTAINLY WE HAVE MORE TO GAIN BY BACKING INMAN THAN EITHER OF THE OTHERS. ESPECIALLY WHILE HE IS HOLDING OUR DESTINY IN HIS GRASP IN THE 1931 LEGISLATURE.

"I AM NOT IN FAVOR OF THE IDEA OF A RULE OR RIGHT OF SUCCESSION IN THIS REPUBLIC. WHY SHOULD A SON SUCCEED HIS FATHER IN AN ELECTED POLITICAL JOB?

"Inman was the author of the California alien land owner law.

"Inman was the father of the first state appropriation of $400,000 for the deepening of the channel to Stockton along the Contra Costa shoreline.

"Inman has been rated by the Grange as one of the best friends the farmer ever had.

"As a businessman farmer he knows the needs of our vine and fruit growers.

"LET US GIVE INMAN A BIG WRITE-IN VOTE FROM CONTRA COSTA COUNTY.

"Take a pen or an indelible pencil to the booth and write in—

J. M. INMAN

"Do not stamp a cross after his name.

"Get everybody else to do likewise."

LEGION ELEVEN WINS FROM PETALUMA

Showing what was probably their best form of the season, the Richmond American Legion gridders crushed the Petaluma eleven by a score of 18 to 6 on the Petaluma field Sunday.

The Richmond team started out at the very first whistle to smash far into Petaluma territory, and kept the greatest part of the action in that section of the field during the remainder of the game.

The first score for Richmond was made by Freeman, fullback. A Petaluma punt was blocked by Adcock of the local line. Freeman took the ball on the bounce and continued on down the field for a touchdown.

The second score for the locals was also gained by Freeman when he worked through the opposing line on a reverse and ran 35 yards toward the Petaluma goal.

A 10 yard pass from Freeman to Pitts and a clever run by Pitts accounted for the locals' third touchdown of the game.

The lone score of the egg city boys was made in the third quarter when they took the ball over the line.

Coach Claude Samples was proud of his Richmond Legion squad after Sunday's victory. He said that the line showed 100 percent improvement over their showing in the Antioch contest and stated that the entire team played excellent football against Petaluma. The linesmen Peters, Adcock, Pitts, Carson, Cooper and McAllister came in for especially high praise by Samples.

The Richmond American Legion eleven will have probably the greatest task of its season to face next Sunday when it travels to Santa Rosa to meet the Santa Rosa squad of state-wide fame. The unique record of 25 consecutive victories during the past several seasons is an indication of the type of competition that the local warriors will have to meet next Sunday.

OVERTHROW OF BRAZIL REBEL AIDS FAILS

RIO GRANDE Do SUL, Brazil Oct. 27.—UP—The revolutionary authorities tonight issued an announcement declaring that President-Elect Julio Prestes had been arrested at Sao Paulo.

The communique gave no details relative to the disposition of Dr. Prester, who was to have been inaugurated Nov. 15.

The announcement was the first direct information on the president-elect since the coup d'etat in Rio de Janeiro last Friday ejected President Washington Luis and overthrew the former federalist government.

Hector Penteado, former mayor of Sao Paulo, a city of 1,000,000, also has been arrested, the revolutionary headquarters here declared.

Izidoro Dias Lopes has been appointed civil and military commander of Sao Paulo, the communique added. The city until the past weekend was a federalist stronghold.

The rebel announcement also said Gen. Goes Monteiro, revolutionary chief-of-staff, had requisitioned 40 locomotives and 40 troop trains to transport the heavy military escort which will accompany Dr. Getulio Vargas, leader of the revolt, to Rio de Janeiro.

Dr. Vargas has been invited by the Junta now in control to proceed to the Calital and become provisional president.

FRIENDSHIP OF AMERICA PLEDGED

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 27.—UP—A declaration that the provisional government of Brazil intends to maintain the most cordial relations with all friendly nations and observe all international obligations was made by the new foreign minister, Afranio de Mello Franco, today.

The foreign minister, in an exclusive interview with the United Press, further declared that Edwin V. Morgan, the U. S. ambassador, was persona grata, and that rumors to the contrary were "absolutely false."

"Reports that the United States ambassador is not acceptable to the new government are absolutely false," Mello Franco told the correspondent. "They have no basis whatsoever."

The foreign minister insisted that the Brazilian provisional regime desired the friendship of "all friendly powers." He said that foreign nations should be cautioned against taking too seriously "such rumors broadcast from uncontrolled radio stations," and added that the reports were intended to create difficulties for the revolutionary government.

Woodmen Nine Beats Y. M. I. Team Sunday

The Richmond Modern Woodmen of America gained a 6 to 4 victory over the Richmond Y. M. I. after a thrilling contest of excellent baseball Sunday afternoon.

Johnny Babich made a fine stand on the mound for the losing team, whiffing 15 Woodmen sluggers and allowing but five hits. However, he fell into several slumps, in which he allowed the Woodmen eight bases on balls.

Sid Martin did a good job on the mound for the Woodmen, baffling seven Y. M. I. swatters and allowing two walks and 10 hits. The Y. M. I. athletes were unable to bunch their hits to any good effect.

The most consistent hitting of the day was done by Korte of the Y. M. I., who collected three hits out of four times at bat. The only long hit of the game was a two bagger by Johnson.

DUCE DECLARES WORLD TO GO FASCIST

ROME, Oct. 27.—UP—The entire world—not Italy alone—was proclaimed by Premier Mussolini today as the field for the spread of a militant fascism.

Mussolini declared that there were only two camps left in the world—Fascist and anti-Fascist—but that the Fascists had to face a growing hatred from a "declining world which is still potent because it represents the enormous crystallization of interests."

The premier, in typical vein, made these declarations in a speech delivered before a gathering of Fascist federal directors meeting at the Venice Palace. His speech was regarded as a message to the Italian people on the eve of the anniversary tomorrow of the famous march of the 'Black Shirts' on Rome in 1922.

New Battle

"Anti-Fascism is not dead," the premier said. "The battlefield is only widened. Yesterday it was Italy—now it is the world. Everywhere the battle for or against Fascism is on."

Regarding Italy's Danubian and Oriental policies, Mussolini declared they were governed by the "right of existence."

"We will try to exploit every bit of our territory," the premier shouted. "That which we are now doing is gigantic, but tehre is a point where our territory is completely saturated by population, which is growing as we desire. We therefore are proud, but life begets life and it is only to the east that our Pacific expansion can be directed."

War Seen

Referring to his speeches last May in Florence and Milan which caused a stir in Europe and were regarded in some places as belligerent gestures, Mussolini said:

"I will comment on those speeches now, when the tumult they caused has died. What I meant to do in those addresses was tear off the mask of this hyprotical Europe which stammers of peace at Geneva and prepares for war everywhere else."

Mussolini ridiculed in this fashion the disarmament conversations.

"By 1950," he jibed, "Europe will be wrinkled and decrepit. Only Italy will be young."

"We may therefore foresee a Fascist Europe," Mussolini continued: "Inspired by Fascist institutions and doctrines, thus solving the problem of the modern state. Fascist today responds to the exigencies of a unusual character."

But the anti-Fascists throughout the world were making war on Fascists in Italy, Mussolin told his hearers.

Ransom Asked By Captors Of Bank President

GALVA, Ill., Oct. 27.—UP—Belief that Earl L. Yocum, bank president and Galva's wealthiest citizen, was held captive by kidnapers and that relatives and associates were arranging to pay ransom for his release, was accepted generally tonight.

Reports that a ransom demand was to be met arose when A. G. Anderson, cashier of the Yocum State bank, disappeared. Other officials of the bank, of which Yocum was persident, would not discuss the cashier's supposed departure for Chicago.

Friends and members of the Yocum family were quoted today as saying that Mrs. Yocum had admitted receiving an "urgent" special delivery letter from her husband, in his handwriting and mailed in Chicago.

It was reported that the letter promised the banker would be released unharmed if $50,000 ransom were paid.

State's Attorney Carl A. Melin said, however, that Mrs. Yocum had given him no statement. He admitted a belief that the banker had been kidnapped by Chicago gangsters.

Yocum disappeared Saturday night shortly after he had taken his two children to a motion picture theater. Mrs. Yocum said she heard him talking to two men in front of their home.

ODD FELLOWS DEFEATED BY RICH PIES

The Richmond Odd Fellows were taken into camp by the Rich Pie company nine of Oakland Sunday afternoon by a score of 3 to 1 in a sensational battle staged on the San Pablo diamond.

Both squads showed a polished brand of baseball last week-end, and furnished the grandstand with a goodly number of flashy plays and timely hits.

Carl Kamb held the mound for the Linkers, and was nicekd by the Pies for six hits. Gualdoni received for Richmond. Pierotti did the chucking job for the Pies, allowing five bingles.

Banducci of the Lodgemen gathered a hard-hit triple in Sunday's game, earning the longest hit of the game.

The Odd Fellows have had a run of rather bad luck in the two opening games of the Oakland Winter league. In the first league game they were narrowly edged out of a victory by the Rola club of Oakland, the final score being 4 to 5. However, the Lodgemen have one of the greatest baseball reputations of the eastbay district, and it is almost impossible for their spell of defeats to continue much longer.

A Dog's Life

HOPE HAMPTON, movie actress, her millionaire husband, Jules Brulatour, steamship executives and divers officials of the Hawaiian Islands are in a terrible furore—and all because of Hope's $10,000 pommeranean pooch, Foufee. Foufee, whose even pound of weight stretches out over a total length of six inches and whose teeth number zero, has been denied entree to the Hawaiias because of the rabie restrictions. Honolulu officials say Foufee must be placed in quarantine for 120 days, but Hope says no, and her husband echoes her sentiments. Latest reports have it that Foufee, Brulatour and Hope will return to Los Angeles on the first boat sailing from Honolulu.

HOPE, HUSBAND, DOG LEAVE FOR L. A.

HONOLULU, T. H. Oct. 27.—Foufee, the dog without a passport, yipped with delight today as the liner City of Los Angeles took her away from this island capital that had failed to recognize her, a $10,000 Pommeranean, as more than an ordinary dog.

With Foufee as the ship sailed were Jules Brulator, Los Angeles millionaire, and his wife, Hope Hampton, opera star and actress, whose loyalty to Foufee had prevented them from enjoying an undisturbed visit to the islands.

They had created a furore here with their appeals that the valuable animal, which weighs only one pound, be given Keys to the city despite laws to the contrary.

Shortly before the vessel left for Hilo Foufee received the correspondent in her luxurious stateroom her vivacious cordiality slightly off-set by her curiosity to find out if the stranger was a friend.

She distainfully refused to comment about failure of Honolulu to give her the warm reception she had expected at the end of the 2100 mile voyage from Hollywood, so sign language and shrill barks were used during the interview.

She tried to make it clear that her name was Foozie, not Foufee. Or was it phooey? The word cropped up so many times and she objected to the use of pencil and paper to take down her quotations.

She ridiculed the idea that she might bite a Hawaiian.

"S'r," Foufee spoke sharply, 'my food must be sterilized and I am not so foolish as to run away from Miss Hampton. Since I have no teeth she chews my food or I would go hungry."

She declared with a roll over the fluffy bed that she was glad her nose was only one-sixteenth of an inch long because the harbor smells had not been to her liking.

Says

"Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the Toasting of LUCKY STRIKE ranks with the many other great contributions to the health and comfort of millions."

Here is the complete statement as authorized by

JAMES A. FARLEY

President, General Builders Supply Corp.; Chairman, New York State Athletic Commission; Chairman, New York State Democratic Committee

"I am certain that without the use of modern, scientific methods the skyscrapers for which our country is so justly proud would never have been possible. I am equally convinced that your modern use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the Toasting of your LUCKY STRIKE Tobaccos ranks with the many other great contributions to the health and comfort of millions and that it is responsible for the skyscraping sales of your famous brand."

James A. Farley

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows — that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

PRIZE COMICS IN FILM AT FOX

No less than three well known stage and screen comedians are in the cast of "Cheer Up and Smile" Fox movietone drama of campus night and Broadway lights directed by Sidney Lanfield and featuring Dixie Lee, Arthur Lake and Olga Baclanova. They are Charles Judels, Franklin Pangborn and Johnny Arthur.

They will be visible and audible at the Fox-California Theater tomorrow.

Judels plays the part of a night club proprietor, while Arthur, stage comedian who will be remembered for his work in "The Desert Song" enacts the role of his press agent. Pangborn is cast as a college professor who "gets quite a kick" out of Lake's initiation into a fraternity—and the kick is by no means figurative.

"Cheer Up and Smile" concerns the romance of "Eddie Fripp" (Lake) and "Margie," (Miss Lee) both undergraduates at "Jones College." Trouble for Lake starts with his initiation, when he kicks the botany professor and is forced to kiss a strange girl.

He quarrels with Dixie over the girl and is suspended because of the kick. Going to New York he gets a job in a night club orchestra through the good offices of "Whispering Jack" Smith, also a member of the cast, and is forced to sing during a robbery. His scared voice makes a great hit and he is given a job as a headliner in the show. He has Dixie come to town to see his act, but they are no sooner reconciled than the night club proprietor arranges with his press agent to have Lake "framed."

Anybody's Woman

RUTH CHATTERTON, Clive Brooks and Paul Lucas are the stars of ANYBODY'S WOMAN which is now playing at the Fox-California theater.

SPECIAL RATES FOR BRIDGE CELEBRATION

Dedication of Southern Pacific's $12,000,000 Martinez-Benicia bridge project on Saturday, November 1, an event of outstanding interest in the transportation world, will be the occasion for popular excursion fares from this city to Martinez with stopover privileges in San Francisco for the week-end.

This announcement was made by L. G. Eby, agent Southern Pacific company, who declared that plans for the bridge-opening insured one of the greatest spectacles ever arranged in connection with an affair of its kind.

With all the steel now in place, the gigantic structure across Suisun bay is rapidly nearing completion, according to the railroad's engineers, and its dedication will be celebrated with a program of varied and widespread interest.

A pagenat of transportation progress will be enacted with the tiny locomotive "C. P. Huntington," patriarch of Southern Pacific's motive power, leading a modern rail giant across the bridge. In addition, the daytime attractions are to be featured by water sports, including speedboat races, and a thrilling air circus, Eby announced. Carnival stunts and a fireworks display in Martinez will close the festivities.

United States Senator Samuel M. Shortridge has accepted an invitation to be the principal speaker at the celebration. The ceremonies will not only dedicate the mamoth bridge, but will also mark the passing of the historic train ferries across Carquinez Straits between Port oCsta and Benicia.

Long known as the largest ferryboats in the world, the "Solano" and "Contra Costa" will bow to progress and retire from service as the new Martinez-Benicia bridge takes up the work of transporting all of Southern Pacific's Overland and Shasta Route trains over the upper reaches of San Francisco bay.

Special low fares of 50 cents for a round trip ticket from Richmond have been authorized by Southern Pacific, together with convenient train schedules, in honor of the occasion, according to Eby. The tickets will be sold October 31 and November 1, with return limit of November 4. This will enable excursionists to attend the bridge fete and spend the weekend, in San Francisco, Oakland or other bay cities before returning home, it was pointed out.

Ratification Of Navy Pact Is Celebrated

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The representatives of three governments, Great Britain, Japan and the United States deposited ratifications of the London naval treaty today.

The ratifications were deposited in the locarno room of the foreign office. Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain presided at the ceremonies. The ratifications of Japan and America were deposited by the Japanese ambassador, Tsuneo Matsudaira, and the U. S. Ambassador, Charles G. Dawes. Others present included representatives of the British empire. He traced the naval disarmament movement since its start at Washington in 1921-22, down to the London conference early this year. He said he hoped naval rivalry had been eliminated for all time and lauded the effectiveness of the London pact.

It was signed in full only by three powers, and Macdonald hoped France and Italy could settle their differences on comparative naval strength and sign the pact at an early date. The British premier stressed cordial relations among Japan, Britain and the United States.

Miss Chatterton In Film Play At Fox-California

When photop'ay fans of the greater new show world of eye and ear diversion think of sophistication with dignity, delineation of delicate denouement without smirk, and finesse in characterization ranging from gutter to ball-room; there is one combination which comes to mind.

That is the famous pair of "Charming Sinners" and "The Laughing Lady," Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook, newly and brilliantly appointed by Paramount for "Anybody's Woman," in its premier engagement as a dialogue picture at the Fox-California Theater today.

Of course you've heard of the author, Gouverneur Morris; likely you recall the story as "The Better Wife." And certainly you've heard of Lasky's lady directorial prodigy, Dorothy Arzner. Miss Arzner has accomplished another "Sarah and Son," which may have been made easy through the literary assistance of Zoe Akins, who wrote the screen play, a duty she acquitted also for "Sarah."

The plot is a highly polished treatment of situations and manners. Brook, suavely eloquent to the flick of a cigarete ash, is a man of standing deserted by his wife. Slightly piflicated and on the loose, he meets Chatterton, showgirl at liberty following the close of production in a recency crusade. Several hours later Brooks finds himself married to her, and in true sportsmanship lives up to the contract. He is ostracised by his friends, only a wealthy client continuing cordial relations; this, for a purpose disclosed later at a party in which Chatterton is the only woman guest. Certain advances made at the gathering, Brook's attitude toward the conduct of his wife and benefactor, the reappearance of his first mistress and the adpustment indicating happiness under approved relations, constitute a climax that gives everybody's woman, and everybody's man, red meat for thought.

A supporting cast fitting their roles with silk-glove smoothness embraces: Paul Lukas, Huntly Gordon, Virginia Hammond, Tom Patricola, Juliette Compton, and Cecil Cunningham.

PAL QUESTIONED IN MACHINEGUN KILLING

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—UP—Patsy Presto, partner and pal of Joe Aiello, the notorious North Side gangster slain here last week, told the skeptical police upon surrendering today that he had not "put the finger" on Aiello for the benefit of Al Capone's machine gunners.

Presto miraculously escaped the deadly hail of lead which riddled Aiello's body and also ruined a $1000 davenport in the Presto home.

"Aiello asked to stay with us," Preso said. "We were business partners and of course I let him. We both remained indoors for two weeks. He wanted to go to a barber that night and we called a cab.

"Aiello walked out the front door first. It was after eight o'clock and pretty dark. Just as the front door closed behind him I heard a lot of guns go off. I ducked sneaked back and left by a back door."

Police said they couldn't understand how the machine gunners, stationed across the street from the apartment entrance, were able to discern Aiello for sure, unless someone "put the finger" on their victim.

They also said they had learned that George "Bugs" Moran, from his lair in Minnesota, had been planning a sudden and mighty attack on Capone. Aiello had visited Moran, his former north side gang partner, in Minnesota on Oct. 3, and discussed the plans.

"Somebody squealed to Capone," police said, "and the answer was the machine gun nest into which Aiello stepped. Moran probably is the next intended victim."

Moran was released from jail today in Waukegan. He had been taken into custody Saturday "for his own good."

Money Taken From Local Drug Store

Richmond police were looking for the person who was reported to have taken $6 from the cash register of A. Van Sull's drug store when the proprietor went to the rear of the store.

Van Sull said that when he returned, the cash drawer was open and the $6 missing. The drug store is located at 2021 Macdonald avenue.

INQUEST SET IN KILLING BY AGENT

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 27.—UP—An inquest into the death of Uvaldo Martinez, an employe of the State Highway department, who was fatally wounded by C. W. Eskildson, a prohibition agent, will be held tomorrow.

It was said the district attorney's office planned a thorough investigation before any charges are filed.

Eskildson was in a hospital here with minor injuries suffered when his automobile turned over after he drove away from the scene of the shooting which occurred about 25 miles north of Albuquerque Sunday night.

Mrs. Margaret Philips, clerk in the New Mexico prohibition office, and her 15-year old son, who were riding with Eskildson, also were injured.

Eskildson said they were driving on the highway and came upon an overturned automobile with a crowd of men gathered around. He said he got out to investigate and thought he smelled liquor. He told police he questioned the men and an altercation followed.

After being attacked the dry agent said he returned to his car and before he could get it started, someone fired at him and he returned the barrage, then drove away not knowing anyone had been wounded.

Speeding back to Albuquerque, his own machine overturned.

THREE LEADERS TALK ON NAVY TREATY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—UP—Leaders of the world's three greatest naval powers today described the London naval limitation treaty as merely the beginning of international disarmament.

As east and west were brought together in one vast world-wide audience through the modern alchemy of radio, President Hoover in Washington, Prime Minister MacDonald in London, and Premier Hamaguchi, Tokyo congratulated their respective peoples on the promulgation of the naval pact.

Shortly before Hamaguchi began speaking at 10 a. m. EST plenipotentiaries of the three signatory nations deposited their ratifications at London. France and Italy, too, were represented at the ceremony. They signed that part of the treaty "humanizing" submarine warfare but not the limitation sections.

Navy Day

Strangely enough, the day set for rejoicing over naval cuts coincided with America's "Navy Day." While Hoover was expressing hope for fewer ships and fewer guns his subordinate naval officers in various ports were exhibiting their warships to admiring visitors and speakers for patriotic organizations were calling for bigger forces.

Hamaguchi, Hoover and Macdonald, speaking in that order, declared the pact to be a real advance toward international peace, achieved only after years of abortive efforts. But none stopped there. Each looked to the future.

"One cannot but feel that the moment is favorable for a wide extension of the policy of disarmament embodied in this treaty," Hamaguchi said.

War Seen

"If the limitations now established can be maintained we may look forward with assurance to the fact that future conferences will find it easier to bring about further steps in education," Hoover said.

"Unless we—and by that I mean every naval power in the world—manage to stop this (tide of armaments) now, history will inevitably repeat itself," Macdonald asserted.

"The failure of France and Italy thus far to agree on naval limitation was seen as the first obstacle to more complete disarmament.

Hoover and MacDonald referred to this impediment and spoke words of encouragement to the deadlocked nations. Tension between them is causing some apprehension in the world's foreign offices.

Watch Italy

"France and Italy," said Hoover, "are not as yet full partners in the London treaty. They have been making active efforts within the last few months to arrive at a complete understanding. The people of Great Britain, Japan and the United States, and indeed the peoples of the whole world, have watched those efforts and confidently hope that patience and good will may yet lead to a solution."

Hamaguchi saw also the growth of a "more generous and neighborly spirit" among the nations and, speaking for Japan, said:

"I know that nothing is nearer the heart of every thinking Japanese than to enjoy security and to live in peace with the rest of the world."

CONFESSION IN MURDER OF PAIR

TUSCON, Ariz., Oct. 27.—UP—County Attorney Claude Smith today said Refugio Mendoza, Tucson Mexican, had confessed to the murder of Jesse F. Morgan, 26, of Denver, and implicated Rafael Cruz in the death of Conrado Villa. Bodies of the two men were found on a vacant lot Sunday.

The confession was made after 29 hours of grilling before detectives and representatives of the attorney's office. Cruz, Smith said, denied knowledge of the crime.

The killings occurred early Sunday morning as result of an argument. Mendoza and Cruz had been at a party. Enroute home, they stopped their automobile near the scene of the murders.

Morgan and Villa, the confession said, came in another machine and made several vulgar gestures when a gun was fired from the machine in which the alleged killers were seated.

Returning to the scene a few minutes later, Morgan and Cruz met their deaths. Both were shot through the head.

West Side Club Asks Bus Line

Approximately 50 persons in meeting at the West Side Progressive club last night joined in endorsing a plan calling for the resumption of bus service between west Richmond and Richmond. A letter was to be written the Key System asking that the matter be given its consideration and a report made to the club.

At the same meeting it was planned that a committee would meet with the school board to determine whether further playground equipment could be secured for the Washington school.

Richmond people should be employed on Richmond projects and Richmond plants was the sentiment voiced by those in attendance last night. Where men who live in the city are available and a capable of handling the work that might be open they should be given the opportunity to work, it was said. Plans were made to interview several contractors and industries where men living in this city might be given work.

Schurig was found hanging over the bannister of the home of C. L. Payne here where he was a boarder. John March, another boarder at the Payne residence found Schurig's body.

The deceased man was formerly a gate keeper at the C. & H. sugar refinery here. Despondency is blamed for the man's taking his life. He had recently been released from the Napa hospital.

An extended tour through the eastern states has just been concluded by W. A. Connell of the Connell and Shumate Chevrolet sales agency here. Cnnell paid a visit to the Chevrolet Motor company plant in Detroit, where he stayed for some time. The trip took a little more than a month. Connell made the trip east on the northern route and returned by the southern route.

FUNERAL TO BE HELD FOR MCQUISTEN

Services are to be held from Hill and Kammerer's mortuary at 2:30 o'clock after which cremation will be at California crematory. Rites will be held under auspices of Continental club of Oakland of which McQuisten was a member.

At the time of his death McQuisten was employed as an inspector by the Southern Pacific company. He had lived in the Annex for eight years.

McQuisten, a native of Pennsylvania, is mourned by: his widow, Mrs. Bessie McQuisten, five daughters, Bertha Delma and Goldie McQuiesten and Mrs. Melba Jonish, all of El Cerrito, and Mrs. Sylvia Padilla of Oakland; and two sons, Samuel Jr., and Roy McQuisten, of El Cerrito.

RICHMOND IS ON THE MOVE!

A visit to the scene of the Ford Motor company's assembling plant on the inner harbor will convince visitors that Richmond is progressing. Steel is rising, a large force of men is at work making the dream of a $5,000,000 automobile factory come true.

Those who as members of the Chamber of Commerce have played a part in that and other recent developments, can congratulate themselves. Those who have not supported the Chamber of Commerce and have been content to "let George do it," should make up their minds to take their proper part in civic affairs in future.

The Ford plant is being built in Richmond because of tht natural advantages which this city possesses for industry, and because the city has a working plan of cooperation that can not be excelled anywhere. There is an opportunity for contact between the city itself and the prospective industrial newcomer seldom found in other communities. This exsits because of the fine spirit of working together that has been developed in Richmond and fostered by the Chamber of Commerce.

Visit the scene of the Ford work, think of the planning and negotiation necessary to bring such an industry to Richmond, then look forward to a generous support of the Chamber of Commerce program in the future.

For the first time in Richmond's history, six welfare agencies are to be financed in one concerted Community Chest appeal beginning November 3. The Chest is worthy of the support of all citizens.

THE WOMAN OF IT

How Some Women Are Helping to Solve the Servant Problem

THOSE hundreds of household service jobs which go begging at the city's Free Employment Bureau have caused no end of sarcastic comment. Part of the sarcasm came from the women who applied for work, and who insisted that the salaries offered wouldn't keep them in candy, or that they wanted to earn enough money to pay their own way to the movies without depending on a boy friend. When one woman employer visited the bureau and offered $40 a month for a nursemaid, several of the applicants for work saucily asked her why she didn't take the job herself.

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

Naturally enough, the report of this exigent attitude on the part of the unemployed females inspired editorial sarcasms of a different order. The general attitude seemed to be that women couldn't want work very badly if they refused housework so petulantly. Meanwhile, there were the homes without helpers, and the women without jobs. It was an impasse which nobody's sarcasm could solve.

Other women, we think, will share our interest in learning that there is at least one woman's organization which is tackling the servant problem and actually working it out with some degree of success. The situation now revealed at the Free Employment Bureau—hundreds of housework positions going begging while workless young girls almost prefer to do likewise, rather than to accept work in some other woman's home—is not new, we are told, to the Girls' Service League, at 133 East 19th Street. It is Miss Stella A. Miner, director of the league, and other well known New York women associated with her, who would seem to offer something new in the way of practical remedies for the situation.

THE Girls' Service League conducts a free employment exchange for young girls and trains them in domestic science both at its clubhouse on 19th Street, and at Hillcrest, its all-year-round school at Taconic, Conn. After careful study, the league has found that the cause of the frequent dislike for housework is not social snobbery, as is generally believed, but the unregulated, unstandardized working conditions within the field.

The first fact that this study brought to light was that, unlike other lines of endeavor, the smaller the salary of the general houseworker, the worse were the living conditions and the greater the demands made upon the employee. Investigation disclosed that in large establishments, where many servants were employed and specialists demanded for each type of work, living conditions were good, salary was excellent and the hours of labor well regulated.

In striking contrast was the one-maid home where housework, cooking, laundry work and taking care of small children were part of the daily program. The salaries paid in many of these homes were as little as $18 or $20 monthly, and the living conditions were intolerable.

Rarely was the maid of all work in this type of home provided with a room to herself. Her living quarters usually consisted of a couch in the dining room or living room, or an extra cot in the bedroom shared by the small children of the family. The hours of work were usually from seven in the morning until eight at night.

IT WAS evident from the facts gleaned in this study that conditions in this field needed supervision. Accordingly the league fixed certain standards. Since that time no girl has been sent from the Employment Exchange until she has been assured a room to herself, a minimum salary of $35 monthly, one free afternoon each week and a full day off after breakfast on alternate Sundays.

The league has also tried to regulate hours of work so that each houseworker has some leisure time each day. But this last provision has been found difficult of enforcement.

Ideas of what constitutes leisure vary. One woman says, "All my maid does in the afternoon is to care for my four-year-old child in the park."

Another feels that the hours set aside for leisure may be encroached upon at will for preparing and serving elaborate afternoon parties.

While employers remain unreasonable, domestic servants will remain rebellious. Girls who have been doing housework are still coming to the Employment Exchange begging for any other type of work. When they are told that employment conditions are bad and that they should stick to housework, they continue to haunt the office, ready to take a chance on a possible job in any other field rather than accept a definite position in domestic work.

One of these girls had been working for two doctors in a four-story house. In the two months she had been there she had never had a day out. Each week it was promised; each week something came up to keep her in.

Another girl who had never worked in any field but housework gave as her reason for not wanting to go back to this type of work, "I have not had a chance to sleep after six-thirty in the morning for one single day in two years."

ONE variant of domestic service, however, the Girls' Service League is helping to popularize with both employers and employees. It is the type of opening described as the "opportunity" home. In a home of this sort a girl receives her board and lodging and usually a small salary, in return for helping with the dinner dishes and taking care of the children when their parents wish to go out at night.

Nearly all of the girls in such jobs are still attending high school, art school or vocational training school. They enter these "opportunity" homes almost as one of the family. They are given rooms to themselves and are permitted to enter to some extent into the family life.

"Opportunity" homes are becoming more prevalent, the league reports. Many women who have had one maid of all work in the past are no longer able to afford this luxury. Therefore a woman so situated takes into her home a young girl whom she pays from $3 to $6 a week to help her with the children. There is no thought of a servant-mistress relationship between the two. The girl's duties and status within the family are clearly defined, and all goes well.

One girl has gone through Hunter College on an opportunity job. Another is completing a commercial art course. A third is finishing high school and expects to enter college next year. Meanwhile, overworked mothers receive service on "the last long mile"—the dishes at the end of a busy day—and furthermore are endowed with a release from constant domestic confinement. They can go out with their husbands for an evening's recreation, and come back, rested, refreshed, truly "re-created," to the duties of mother and housewife.

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Many a housewife who had only the most casual acquaintance with the kitchen stove during the summer is now attempting to remember its peculiarities and habits. Bidding a touching farewell to the simple icebox recipes that stood her in such good stead during the sultry months, she is again taking up the study of oven-cooking in earnest.

KAREN HOLLIS

It is surprising how much can be forgotten about cooking in a few months. Even the simplest routines can appear complicated when the housewife recalls only vaguely the reasons for doing this or that. What was that delicious meat casserole that she evolved one day last winter that made such a hit with the family? What were the ingredients are added to a cookbook recipe for ragout that made it so flavory?

If she were efficient, of course, she would jot down notes in her kitchen scrapbook for easy reference. But, frankly, how many housewives are efficient?

Recipes are in many ways like folk ballads. They are passed from neighbor to neighbor, from generation to generation, and in the course of their travels they are changed here and there in little details. Individuals put on them the stamp of their individuality. Many of our best recipes bear the same name as old ones, but they are a far cry from old directions that were lavish in use of butter and eggs, frugal in demands for seasoning.

A dish that has undergone many changes is stuffed veal. Baked in individual portions, this is usually called veal birds, but I call it that today only because of several requests for the recipe under that name. Prejudiced as I am against any dish that appears to be mock something or other, I dislike suggesting that veal should masquerade as anything that it isn't. Regardless of the name, however, I can assure you that the recipe is good.

VEAL BIRDS

1½ pounds veal from leg or shoulder.
1½ cups dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon celery salt
Pinch of thyme
1 cup rich milk
1 egg
½ cup mushrooms, chopped
2 tablespoons butter, melted
2 tablespoons flour

Have veal cut in thin slices and divided into sections, three by five inches. Pound with a mallet until only about one-quarter inch in thickness. Rub meat with salt on both sides. Add beaten egg to milk and stir in other ingredients. Spread this dressing generously on each piece of veal. Roll up tightly and tie with cord of fasten with small skewers. Sprinkle outside lightly with flour. Brown on all sides in hot fat over a hot fire. Place in a casserole, pour melted butter over the meat and bake in a moderate oven for forty-five minutes, or until very tender.

Keep the Ashpit Clear

HOW often do you clean out the ashpit of your furnace? It should be cleaned out every time you shake the fire.

The ashpit has been made so as to permit sufficient air to pass into and through it to properly burn the fuel and to keep the grate from becoming injured through overheating. If ashes are left in the ashpit they make proper air circulation impossible, they hinder combustion and cause the grate bars to become warped and bent.

It is a bad practice to leave ashes under the grate to check the fire. On mild days, when this is necessary, an accumulation of ashes may be allowed to remain on the grate, but never under the grate, so if you want good service for your furnace be sure and clean out the ashpit every time immediately after shaking.

New Potteries

A TRIO of pots to contain winter house plants or cacti is of Czecho-Slovakian ware, charmingly lined in yellow with lavender on the exterior as a background for tiny floral motifs in multicolor suggestive of chintz patterns.

Of similar designs are candlesticks and a low bowl to be used for the dining table of the breakfast nook, or the cottage. Bright and gay, these colorful pieces are far less expensive than they might seem and would make attractive Christmas gifts.

A new plate to be used as a decorative piece on a plate rail or an actual service plate is one of cream white ware embossed in self tone on the border, with an English coaching scene done in black in the center. The scenes are sufficiently varied to offer great variety.

Making Ready for Football Games

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

IF there's one time when you want to look smart, it's on your favorite football spree. But how your poor bones can shiver and shake if you're not warm enough.

It is not always easy to bring these two interests—warmth and style—together. If you concentrate on the former you're apt to look like a bundle of rugs being dragged along for general use. If the latter ideal consumes your time entirely then prepare to perish on a stone seat even in spite of any cheering flasks that may be thrust in your general direction.

LEATHER JACKET IN 1930 GUISE

Trust the dear designers. Their genius has outdone itself on clothes that are warm and light and so terribly smart. The soft new woolen materials help a lot and the graceful way in which furs are being designed and manipulated helps some more.

Knitted tweeds, both monotone and duotone are just about perfect for both suits and dresses. Their smartness is unquestionable and there are so many ways in which they can be done that the danger of their becoming too common is almost nil.

* * *

How Suits Are Going

YOU will see illustrated here a loose weave tweed suit with a white jersey blouse and white facing for the coat. This is one of the best of new styles, for the jersey blouse, as you know, is something that is entirely a product of this season. It dates your suit "today" and when you add the jersey facing for the coat, you have something quite up to the minute in style.

With this, then, for the football game you can have a white felt hat—smartest of the new things—and your fur topcoat, and who could be cozier, with all the style, for facing chilly fall winds?

The tweedy suit with the full length coat is another version. The coat, warm and fur collared, is a topcoat in itself and can be worn with other dresses and suits innumerable. For this reason it is an extremely good buy, as it serves a multitude of purposes.

The suit has a plaid blouse, plaid in a sheer wool. The keynote color is green—a dark green suit with a plaid of green, yellow and black. A big lynx collar is the only trimming and a green felt hat turns off the face sharply at the right, drooping in a rounded brim toward the back.

A strictly tailored suit of deep wine shade is a stunning thing with its topcoat of fur. The checked blouse and checked wool turban tam in tones of beige and wine give it a certain flare.

* * *

Hats and Things

HATS match this season—not much contrast. Stay away from the red hat—it's not so good just now. Especially with the leopard coat, I should say it is downright bad and I've been treated to so many sights when this combination was paramount that I know there is some danger of the crime being committed again.

If you see that your hat matches your skirt you will be perfectly secure in the knowledge that the smartness of your costume is complete.

The Agnes hood of knitted cashmere is an excellent hat for this sort of purpose. It can so easily match the color of your costume and it pulls so becomingly about the head—always falling toward the side to keep the smartness of its line.

Then scarfs are extremely good, especially if your suit or dress has no fur trimming. A scarf in two colors—striped—is stamped with the stamp of style. Plaid scarfs, too, are smart but they just don't go with patterned coats of any sort. But a scarf, when it is right, and tones in with the coloring of the costume, adds a note of gayety that is wholly charming. It is an extra bit of warmth, too, not to be despised for wintry football.

Coats of Fur and Leather

THE fur top coat, of course, is much to be desired if you are motoring to the game, coming back in the cold, dark evening and expecting to sit out of doors as the sun goes down. All the light weight sport furs are good—lapin, leopard, shaved caracul, etc.

Then there is the leather jacket—an excellent thing to have for even extra warmth. Swing it over the rack in your car and it is there when you need it—for wear over the suit and under the top coat if the weather runs beyond bounds. The chamois jackets, too, are good for this, and suede vests with zipper closings at the front.

To Dry-Clean Gloves

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

A GOOD wrinkle for cleaning gloves quickly and often, without wetting them, is presented here. The apparatus is simple, inexpensive and can be quickly assembled. It consists of one pint jar with a perforated top for a powder shaker, a 12x14-inch bread board, one stiff brush, a quarter-pound of fuller's earth, an equal amount of powdered alum, the same quantity of powdered animal charcoal, a carton of loose bran and a slice of toasted bread when required.

The gloves are placed on the board, and brushed on both sides with a mixture of equal parts of dried fuller's earth and powdered alum (mixed and placed in the shaker). Then the powder is wiped off, and the gloves covered with dry bran which is also brushed off. The gloves, if not very badly soiled, will, by this process, become entirely clean.

Should there be grease or sweat stains, remove them with powdered animal charcoal and crumbs of toasted bread, then rub the gloves with a clean woolen cloth dipped in the powdered fuller's earth and alum. Gloves treated in this manner will appear as if new for a long time.

TELLING THE WORLD

UNEASY LIES THE HEAD——

HOME life of the president of a South American republic these days.

WIFE—Have some more chili con carne, Ignacio.

PRESIDENT—No, I don't feel so much like eating today.

WIFE—What's the matter? Are you worrying again about this revolt business?

PRESIDENT—Well, it don't do my appetite any good.

WIFE—Don't be silly. This whole uprising is only being led by college students.

PRESIDENT—I wish someone would take away their megaphones, then.

* * *

WIFE—You were elected for a seven-year term, weren't you? And you've still got five to serve.

PRESIDENT—Yeah, I've got five more to serve—but I don't know where I'll be serving 'em.

WIFE—Stop fretting! You'll serve them right here in this beautiful executive mansion.

PRESIDENT—There's only one trouble with this beautiful executive mansion—it hasn't got any trap doors.

WIFE—What's griping you?

PRESIDENT—Well, look at all the other countries—Brazil, the Argentine, Ecuador, Chile, Bolivia and Peru.

WIFE—I'm looking. What about 'em?

PRESIDENT—Well, today revolting is the largest industry in South America. Brazil hasn't harvested enough coffee the last two weeks to make a demitasse. In Argentina they're even training the steers in battle formation. In Bolivia——

* * *

WIFE—Oh, nonsense. If your administration's in a little trouble, why don't you summon your cabinet together and ask them for advice?

PRESIDENT—If I want to summon my cabinet together I'd have to break into sixteen cyclone cellars.

WIFE—The cabinet isn't much use to you, then?

PRESIDENT—No. The way things are today I'd trade the whole lot of them for one good Secretary of Timetables and Steamship Sailings.

WIFE—Well, what are you going to do? You can't sit around here all day worrying.

PRESIDENT—I know it. I'm going to start packing. Just some light pajamas, shirts, toothpaste and sox. And a lot of that seasick medicine.

WIFE—What do you want the seasickness capsules for?

PRESIDENT—Look at my pal, President Irigoyen of Argentina. They took him for a ride—in a light cruiser. He's been anchored out there for a month.

* * *

WIFE—What's the cause of all this revolting, anyway?

PRESIDENT—It's unrest, honey; just plain unrest.

WIFE—What are they unrested about?

PRESIDENT—I dunno. The mosquitoes won't let 'em sleep nights—or something.

WIFE—And what are you going to do if they demand your resignation?

PRESIDENT—I've got it signed already. They've only got to fill in the date.

WIFE—I mean what are you going to do in case you resign?

PRESIDENT—The minute I become ex-president I'll hire a little office.

WIFE—What are you going to be—dentist or something?

PRESIDENT—No. When I get the office I'm going to fill it with books.

WIFE—Ah, you're going to start a circulating library.

PRESIDENT—No, not fiction books or anything like that. I'm going to fill my office with encyclopoedias and almanacs and statistics and so forth. And, oh, a Bible.

WIFE—And then what?

PRESIDENT—With my reputation as an ex-President, that's all I need to write a daily newspaper column.

THIS AND THAT

After you've served on Senator Nye's investigating committee, being a traveling salesman is just like staying at home.

WOODS TELLS OF NEED OF WORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—UP—Col. Artuhr Woods, chairman of President Hoover's committee for employment, said today he had received reports that 15 large cities already had instituted measures to provide more work and to take care of the jobless.

Woods urged that other municipalities study the projects in order to solve their own specific problems. Only by co-perating and coordination, he pointed out, can the nation meet this "vitally important emergency."

The cities cited included Hartford, Conn., Chicago, Boston, Detroit, Mich., St. Paul, New York, Cincinnati, Toledo, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Salt Lake City, Seattle, Milwaukee and Cleveland. The undertakings varied from emergency appropriations for aiding families to central registration of transient men.

Reporters who called at Woods' Murray Hill residence found him still 'confessing' to incomplete information regarding the scope of his problem. Pending full reports, he said, he believed that there were 3,500,000 unemployed throughout the country and that conditions were worst in the "Lake" states of Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania and New York.

"Do you consider the present state of unemployment a record?" he was asked.

"No," he said. 'I think there were more men cut of work in 1921. But at that time the crisis was ended more quickly.

"What aggravates the present situation," he continued, "is the fact that this will be the second meager winter for thousands of families whose savings already have spread thinly."

Public works, Woods said, constituted the most efficient means of increasing employment. He quoted the estimate of economists that the giving of one job in road building, for instance, led to three more jobs—because of the additional need for materials, feeding the workers, cartage, etc.

Woods held several conferences today with financial and civic leaders. Among his callers were Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, who will head the women's division of the committee, and Rep. Edith Rogers of Massachusetts. Woods will address a meeting of women's club members tomorrow and return to Washington in the afternoon.

A new appointee to the president's committee was announced as John B. Blandford, Jr., director of the bureau of municipal research in Cincinnati.

G. O. P. Victory Seen By Hyde

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 27.—UP—Words of encouragement for the farmer and a prediction that "Republicans will stand pat and return their congressional delegations," in the coming election, were brought to the farm belt today by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde who was here on private business.

The secretary, speaking of wheat held by the federal farm board, declared it was "off the market and going to stay off." He said the wheat would be released gradually when grain prices return to a normal level.

Richmond Driver In Berkeley Crash

BERKELEY, Oct. 27.—A 61 year old woman of this city was recovering today from cuts and bruises suffered when knocked down by an automobile driven by Henry Grishamti, 22, of 5117 Bayview avenue, Richmond, police reported.

Mrs. Grace Baldwin, 2400 Dwight Way had just stepped from the curb when struck by the Grissamti automobile, police reported. She was injured at the corner of Channing Way and Dana street. Treatment was given at Alta Bates hospital.

Inman Lauded By Meek For Water Work

Young Water Commission, Meek particularly stresses Senator Inman's intimate knowledge and broad perspective of the water problems of California, and the third district in particular.

"It would be much easier for Inman, with his legislative background, to learn his way around Washington than for a resident of Washington to learn about this district's complicated needs," Meek remarked.

Senator Jack Inman knows intimately the needs of the Third Congressional District and he knows these needs first hand.

California's future development depends very largely upon how the state's water resources are handled. Inman has a knewledge of the case for the congressional candidate.

His statement is as follows:

"I am in a position to speak advisedly when I say that Senator J. M. Inman is one of our best and strongest and most dependable California legislators, and that during all these years he has rendered wonderful service to his district and to the state.

"He has been exceedingly industrious, has shown exceptional ability, and has stood out conspicuously as a fighter for every forward-looking, progressive measure in the interest of the whole people.

"There can be no better guarantee for future service than faithfulness and ability in past service; and in this J. M. Inman has been tried, and has not been found wanting."

CITY COUNCIL IN EL CERRITO MEETS

First reading of an ordinance providing for compensation for the volunteer fire department was passed by the council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday night.

The ordinance sets the following rate of pay for ten regular or alternate members of the department recommended by the chief of the fire department, for each alarm where water is played on the fire $2.50, for all other alarms $1.50 each and $1.00 for each drill not to exceed two in any one month, and will take effect thirty days after final passage.

On a motion of Councilman Peter Larsen seconded by Councilman Ernest O'Brien the council instructed City Attorney T. H. DeLap to draw up an ordinance prohibiting the use of patent street pavements in El Cerrito.

Report of health and safety Commissioner Phil A. Lee that the cost of the installation of safety signals at Fairmont and Potrero avenues on San Pablo avenue would cost $817.20 for equipment and $350 for the erection was referred to City Attorney T. H. DeLap to see if the contract could be let without calling for bids.

Members of the council expressed themselves as favoring the installation and action will probably be taken next Monday night.

J. A. Christie, district superintendent of the Santa Fe, who appeared before the council on a complaint that the trains were traveling through the city over fifteen miles an hour, assured the council that it was in violation of instruction and if definite dates were given the trouble would be remedied.

Second reading of the zoning ordinance placing the city in zones as it is now laid out until the city can be properly zoned by Dr. C. Aronovici, city planning expert, who was hired by the last week, was adopted by the council.

Report of plumbing inspector Frank Blomberg that there was outlet provided for the sewage from houses on Silva avenue in the Mira Vista district and should be connected with the Richmond sewer system was referred to Blomberg and Health Commissioner Phil A. Lee to confer with the Stege Sanitary District and the City of Richmond about making the improvement.

Final adoption of the ordinance clearing the sidewalks and parkway area on San Pablo avenue was passed by the council and will go into effect in thirty days.

Passage of this ordinance means the cleaning up of San Pablo avenue and the removal of all the fruit stands in the parkway area.

Action on the improvement of Stockton avenue by widening, paving and putting in curbs, gutters and sidewalks was laid over for one week until further information could be obtained by Acting City Engineer W. P. Smiley as to the amount bonds still outstanding against the property.

Smiley stated that the proposed improvement with a forty foot roadway would not be over $4.50 per front foot.

A communication from the El Cerrito Lions club signed by F. F. McIntyre, secretary, stating the club had gone on record as endorsing the movement for installation of safety signals and the ordinance clearing the sidewalk and parkway areas on San Pablo was placed on file.

In response to a letter from Fred Begerow stating that he understands the zoning plan would cost about $3500, Mayor J. R. Beck instructed City Clerk Mrs. Alice Walker to write Begerow that the cost would not be over $1,000.

Efforts to find work for the unemployed of El Cerrito will be made at a meeting to be held at the city hall on Thursday evening by the business men and council according to Dr. F. L. Horne who brought the matter before the council.

Dr. Horne stated that in a survey made at the Fairmont school there was between fifty and sixty cases where the children's parents were unemployed.
